Delegates Roundtable -

Buncombe County Manager’s Office Tim Love – Shared that Buncombe County is hosting the Asheville Championship in Asheville on November 12 and 13. This is the second year out of a three-year slate. Schools competing include Eton, Harvard, and Louisiana.

Commission Chair William Lapsley – Shared that Henderson County received notice that Pratt & Whitney is having its ribbon cutting on November 16. Henderson County is excited to hear this announcement as a lot of community members will work at the facility.

Economic Development Representative Brad Guth – Shared that Madison County has a short-term rental moratorium that may end in December. The County is in the process of hiring a new planner and code enforcement official. The Commissioners are discussing implementing a moratorium on a bio-mass facility. He announced that April Riddle has joined EDPNC covering WNC. Finally, work is ongoing at the Veterans Park.

Commission Chair Jason Chappell - Shared that Transylvania County has entered into an agreement with Vyve Broadband to enable the provision of public Wi-Fi at the Rosman Community Park. He noted that Transylvania County is a wonderful place and to come visit and spend your dollars.

Council Member Sandra Kilgore - Shared that the City of Asheville voted to approve an ordinance providing the Walton Street Park with historic designation. The park was built in 1938 and the pool added in 1947. The park fell into disrepair, but the community wants the park rebuilt and maintained into the future. Council also approved the Closed Gap Plan that prioritizes the way funding is used to have the greenways work with the ADA and pedestrian plans. The hope is that this will help with financing. Changes were made to the UDO to allow existing manufactured homes to be replaced, which is a great resource to increase affordable housing in the community.

Mayor Larry Harris – Shared that the Town of Black Mountain is working on a lot of projects, trying to pull together the UDO and dealing with hot topics such as short-term rentals. Additionally, work is ongoing to process projects that are funded with ARPA dollars and it’s a challenge to get those done due to supply chain issues. It’s a beautiful time of year in the Town!

Mayor Maureen Copeleff – Shared that the City of Brevard’s Mary C. Jenkins Community Center is officially open. It’s also a cultural center and there are a lot of historical displays to educate on the history of the community. The Center also provides rental space that is available for events. The City is having a Halloween Fest this Saturday on Main Street including a costume contest, pumpkin carving contest, and Smart Start Sesame characters with several streets closing for the event. The City successfully approved an affordable housing complex (60 units) and this is the first time that tax credits have been used. Contracted with DFI to analyze three additional sites in the City to see if those would be appropriate for affordable housing. Submitted a grant requesting $21 million for Ecusta Trail, partnering with other jurisdictions and organizations for this grant application.

Town Commissioner Barbara Jeter – Shared that the Village of Flat Rock had a successful shred day, and this coming Monday is a volunteer appreciation luncheon for those who commit their time to The Park. About 40 master gardeners are included on the volunteer roster. Council plans to look at approving a mini-forest concept between the Village and a housing association this could assist with noise abatement.

Mayor Preston Blakely – Shared that the developer backed out of the Town Center project. He noted that Police Cadet positions are available for BLET students to help attract more law enforcement officers.

Mayor Barbara Volk – Shared that the City of Hendersonville has approved a developer to receive tax credits for an affordable housing development. The City Clerk position should soon be filled as the last stages of interviews are happening to fill that position. The City has agreed to use ARPA funds ($2 million) towards nonprofit projects. Many varied and worthwhile projects are under review. The Bear Auction was successful and raised over $140 thousand this year. More than $100 thousand of the funds raised will go to the nonprofits that sponsored the bears. Monday is the Treat Street Carnival with a costume contest. Finally, the first Saturday in December will be the first nighttime Christmas Parade.

Town Commissioner Deb Bridges – Shared that the Town of Laurel Park is moving forward with a couple of big projects and expecting pricing back on the Laurel Green Stream Restoration Project. The Town is also receiving responses from architects regarding the new Town Hall on Highway 64. A new Town Hall is a big project to get initiated. The Town approved a budget amendment to allow for the design of the new Town Hall and for repurposing the current facility. It’s an exciting time in the Town. Parks and Greenways have been very busy in conjunction with Little Laurel Green Stream restoration. The Town has an event coming up to plant 100 plants in Laurel Green and the community is invited to help accomplish this goal. The Public Works department is very busy and beginning leaf collection. Brush collection is for residents and a couple of neighborhoods (HOAs) really take advantage of the service. It’s been a gorgeous fall in the Town with a lot of color (but it’s not lasting long enough) Commissioner Bridges encouraged everybody to investigate the Firewise Communities program that encourages wildfire mitigation. This is also a great way to involve the communities with the fire departments and other neighborhoods. Information on Firewise available from the NC Forestry Service (https://www.resistwildfirenc.org/). Funding is available for Firewise. Lastly, Chief Trotter with the Police Department is leaving and doing a trunk retreat on Friday and everyone is invited.

Town Manager Daniel Cobb – Shared that the Town of Mills River hosted its first installment of Movies In the Park last week and showed the film Hocus Pocus. A second shelter being constructed at The Park is almost done. The Town is currently hiring for a permit technician. Over the past couple of months, the Town has been making some serious investments in a new website that will include permitting software so folks can pay for their permits online. Additionally, an online payment platform for Parks and Recreation will be available, too. The Town is looking for input from the public on using the ARPA funds. Lastly, work continues on the Bike/Ped Plan.

Town Commissioner Mason Blake – shared that the Town of Montreat experienced five different incidents last year where bear-hunting dogs chased bears into surrounding neighborhoods. In response to this, the Town has passed five different ordinances to protect the neighborhoods and punish those who allow hunting dogs to run loose in the residential areas.

Town Commissioner Elisabeth Ervin – Shared that the Town of Woodfin hired a planning director and a quantum engineering consultant. Yesterday, the Town hosted an interest meeting to establish a path forward to name the Blueway/Greenway Wave in honor of a member of the Hunt family who passed in a waterway accident.

VII. Public Comment -
Vice Chair Gentry called on April Riddle for an update on her new position. April shared that she is now at EDPNC working as the Existing Industry Expansion Manager for the Western Region, and she encouraged anyone with needs to reach out for assistance. Robin Ramsey shared that she is still working for Senator Burr and transitioning to Senator Tillis’ office. An opportunity for public comment was offered, but none were received.

VIII. Presentations/Recognition -
A. Dogwood Health Trust -
Sarah Grymes, Vice President of Impact Housing for Dogwood Health Trust shared with the Board about the work going on to address housing needs in the region. Her presentation included a review of DHT priorities, and it noted that housing work is conducted by listening, bringing partners together, helping partners leverage funding, catalyzing initiatives that do not displace families from their homes and working to prevent gentrification, providing grants and impact investment to non-profit housing developers, counties or municipalities that are working to invest and build up existing communities. Over $30 million in grants distributed in the past year and on target to distribute $25 million in the current year. Full cycle housing includes equity and housing counseling. Post Covid, there’s a lack of workers for the construction sector and high construction costs coupled with rising interest rates. The region is losing more housing stock than is being gained, and people rapidly relocating to the region and a severe lack of infrastructure and developable land in the region all impact affordable housing efforts. Impact Housing works to leverage federal, state, local and private funds into the region and brings partners together to benefit the initiative and encourage collaboration across the region, the State and the US.

Impact Housing concentrates on healthy and safe revitalization, supportive housing, safe housing, and affordable housing. One goal of Impact Housing is to create and preserve supportive housing rental units for people considered hard-to-house that includes disabled, seniors, reentry, and SUD populations, etc. Another goal is to create/preserve senior housing leveraging HUD funding. The Clinchfield Mill project was provided as an example of revitalization to develop senior housing through use of the HUD D4 221 loan program and Historic Mill credits through a public/private partnership. Another goal is to create/preserve affordable housing units by using the 9% low-income housing tax credit (City of Brevard has used this incentive) program through established strategic partners to create affordable rental housing and through the economic opportunity team by working with community colleges and high schools.

B. NC Housing Finance Agency –
Will Parry-Hill, Manager of Government and Industry Relations with the NC Housing Finance Agency shared about the work that the agency is doing to provide good housing for the residents of North Carolina. The agency was created in 1973 by the GA to take advantage of tax-exempt bonds to provide loans for veterans and others whose needs are not met in the market by leveraging partnerships and private capital. The NC Housing Finance Agency is a self-supporting, quasi-independent State organization with a board of directors, which can issue bonds evaluated by rating agencies. Work is done through partnerships and the agency has financed over $30 billion in real estate. Five main lines of business are available: home ownership, rental housing investments through housing credits, housing bonds and agency loans.

Will Parry-Hill noted that there is a housing shortage everywhere. Housing Preservation is another line of business that provides urgent repairs and displacement prevention assistance. Housing Preservation includes essential single-family home rehabilitation and disaster recovery work. The Supportive Housing Development program and Integrated Supportive Housing program are efforts that can address the needs of those who are difficult to house. The agency provides free help to homeowners facing foreclosure and over 18,400 foreclosures have been prevented. The Homeowner Assistance Fund was created through ARPA to help prevent mortgage delinquencies, defaults, displacements, and foreclosures due to Covid. The State received an allocation of $273.3 million for that program.

C. NC-11 Non-Partisan Congressional Candidates Forum -
Land of Sky Regional Council hosted a non-partisan Candidates Forum for NC-11 candidates vying for a congressional seat in the US House of Representatives. The forum was moderated by Susan Russo-Klein, Land of Sky’s legal counsel and Sam Jenkins, with Roberts & Stevens, P.A. Susan Russo-Klein shared that COGs are non-partisan and candidates have agreed to ground rules for this forum.

Opening Statement -
Jasmine Beach-Ferrara gave her opening statement and shared that she is a working mom of three and a minister and in her second term as a Buncombe County Commissioner. She shared that she approaches this campaign in a different way that includes caring about everyone in the district regardless of vote. Believes in WNC. Her background in ministry has been her very best guide and means showing up everywhere, every time. Canvassing and asking folks what is important to people and listening to everyone’s experiences. Issues that are front and center in everyone’s lives include broadband access, inflation, housing, etc.

David Coatney gave his opening statement and shared that he is aligned more with classical liberalism, believing in a free-market and social justice issues. Overall, he shared that he is a pragmatist, surveying the political landscape to work with those who can help get things passed for the benefit of the region. Small business owner since 2005 providing services to help other small business owners. Supports a fair tax and would push for small businesses to be treated like individuals, based on annual revenue. Happily married for 10 years, which is a part of the reason he is particularly interested in immigration reform.

Question and Answers -

What is the government’s role is supporting affordable housing?

David Coatney responded that a return to a more pre-pandemic housing market would help with the affordable housing issue. Tremendous impact from nonprofits, who need more funding to address the issue. Most of what needs to happen needs to happen at the local level- such as addressing restrictive zoning, etc.

Jasmine Beach-Ferrara responded that everybody deserves as safe secure home. This is an issue that everyone is talking about. This issue demands a coordinated federal, state, and local response. At the federal level, there is an expansion the housing tax credit program and workforce and veterans housing programs. Worked as part of a bi-partisan team to address this issue. Aggressive efforts to build affordable units and prioritize teachers and those who work for the community who cannot afford to live in the community they serve. Collaborate to bring everyone to the table together.

Addressing the bi-partisan infrastructure legislation?
Jasmine Beach-Ferrara responded that this is the type of federal action that is bringing funding into areas to assist with infrastructure needs. People are suffering because they cannot access affordable broadband. The Infrastructure Bill and ARPA help to address these issues. Roads, congestion, quality of life issues and the need to create good jobs that support people- daily life is impacted by infrastructure issues.

David Coatney responded that one in every four dollars should address infrastructure needs. Need to be more efficiency in structuring telehealth, remote work, and would like to see more funding for satellite internet. Reliability in inclement weather. Take funding and put it to developing satellite technology. Laying fiber optic cable is not an efficient means to reach everybody.

Funding for human needs programs for seniors (Medicare/Social Security)?
David Coatney responded that the current level of discretionary spending is not sufficient. Move to a privatized system and he stated that he believes that those who pay in should be able to access their funds by providing an optional public system.

Jasmine Beach-Ferrara responded that funding for human needs for seniors- there is a need to be doing everything possible to care for and honor seniors. These are pressing issues and she stated her opposition to any talk of cuts to Social Security and Medicare. Folks need to have the security to know that these programs will be available. Regardless of political affiliation, this is a concern for everyone. These programs are promises that have been made to people and these promises need to be honored.

Government's role in establishing workplace policies?
Jasmine Beach-Ferrara responded that policies are needed to protect people who work for a living. There is a continued need to provide these protections for workers. When workers can have one job and be able to respond to emergencies, it strengthens the business and the workers. Need to have someone in congress who understands that the right policies can make a difference in peoples' lives.

David Coatney responded that policies need to be made at the local level. These are healthy conversations to have but need to be had at the local level.

Closing Remarks -
Jasmine Beach-Ferrara closed by remarking, at an early voting site this morning, I met a voter who was scheduled to have surgery. They wanted to vote before that event. She noted it’s important to show up for this moment to protect our democracy, etc. What matters to people is showing up for each other, even if we don’t fundamentally agree with each other. This election is not a typical election, and the area needs effective representation who will partner with local government to fight for peoples’ priorities. Create room at the table for everyone. For too long, a message of divisiveness. Brings to this race a track record of serving everyone and commitment on how to move forward together.

David Coatney closed by remarking, thank you for this opportunity. I would rather run for something than against someone. Looking for solutions to the problems. Positions are taken as a matter of principle, not because of pressure to be one side or the other. Need to remember that representatives are elected to serve everyone in their district, not just the ones who voted for them. Vowed to be there for every vote. Acknowledged that the country is going through a difficult period, but this is the time that pushes us forward, to a better place as in the ideals that all men are created equal, and the consent of the governed- he loosely quoted from Langston Hughes ‘Freedom’s Plow.’

5. Strategic Initiatives

- Mountain Mobility – Passenger trips in October were down slightly – about 3.5% - from September, which is typical when the weather begins to turn colder. Our Trailblazer services in Black Mountain, Enka-Candler and North Buncombe were also slightly down – 159 (almost 8%) from October. Mountain Mobility continues to feel the effects of a sluggish workforce as we continue to recruit vehicle operators for approximately 8 full and part-time positions.

- Healthy Opportunities – The Healthy Opportunities Pilot Program has approved Land of Sky to offer housing services in addition to transportation. Our contract states we can provide assistance with housing inspections, move-in support, utility set-up and deposits and healthy home goods. We are still working on the process of how these services will be delivered, but we may be able to start receiving referrals as early as January. For Transportation, we received 12 referrals in October.

- ARC INspire – The team continues to serve individuals recovering from Substance Use Disorder and/or those returning from prison to find successful, long-term employment and supports in the community. In September, two individuals were placed in OJT contracts with local employers, while others were assisted with wraparound supports such as work shoes/clothing, assistance with obtaining employment documents (ID, driver’s license, etc.) and transportation to job interviews and other appointments. Amanda Layton, our newest FT team member, recently completed her Peer Support Specialist certification and is now helping others in the community.

- NEMT – Buncombe County anticipates budgeting the same funding for FY23-24. Transfer of additional clients has been delayed. NEMT provided 5317 trips for 539 clients in the month of October 2022.
